IMPORTANT to the PUBLIC.

THIS DAY

R. P. STONE

Has "MARKED DOWN" every article in his entire stock. To such low prices have they come that customers cannot help purchasing when seeing. To "quote" these Prices would seem so fabulous to the reader that even if advertised by "STONE," it would almost seem a question. And "Marking Down" has grown so "trite" from such constant usage and abuse that it sometimes fails to draw. But truth is oft times stranger than fiction, and this is one of the times. Be sure you come and see for yourselves; for "seeing is believing," and you shall sure "believe" as you shall come. Except you may be blind.

OPPOSED TO SLANG.

The "Reform Club" is the title of a new society in the West End, organized by young ladies for the purpose of discouraging the use of slang phrases in conversation. At a recent meeting, while a member was addressing the society, she inadvertently made use of the expression "awful nice," and was called to order by a sister member for transgressing the rules. "In what way have I transgressed?" asked the speaker, blushing deeply. "You said it would be 'awful nice' to admit young gentlemen to our deliberations," replied the other. "Well, wouldn't it be?" returned the other; "you know you said yourself, no longer ago than yesterday, that—" "Yes, I know, but you said 'awful nice.' That's slang."

"Well," said the speaker tartly, "if you're going to be so awful nice about it perhaps it is, but I wouldn't say anything if I were you. Didn't you tell Sallie Spriggins this morning to pull down her basque?"

"No, I didn't," retorted the other, her face growing crimson, "and Sallie Spriggins will say I didn't. She won't go back on me."

"This is a nice racket you are giving us!" cried the President, after rapping both speakers to order. "Let us ask, What is the object of this society?"

"To discourage slang," cried a dozen voices.

"Ke-rect," said the President; "go on with the funeral."

A member rose to explain that she had been fined at the last meeting for saying "awful nice" herself, but she hadn't the "stamps" to pay it now—would settle, however, "in the sweet by-and-by."

"That'll be all right," said the President; "pay when you have the ducats."

Another member asked if a young lady could say "old splendid" without subjecting herself to a fine.

"You bet she can't," said the President, who was the original founder of the society, and therefore appealed to when any nice question was to be decided.

THE OLDTOWN CRUSADE.

Reports of Officers concerning the Reading Room.

The following reports have been made to the Women's Crusade of Oldtown concerning the affairs of the Reading Room.

Report of the Board of Management of the Oldtown Reading Room to the Crusade, July 8, 1876.

Sisters of the Crusade.—It is with the deepest regret that we have to report to you that we find it impossible to longer maintain the Reading Room; not that we have in any way lost faith in the utility or worth and useful ness of the enterprise, but there have been influences so persistently brought to bear to destroy its influence and support, that we are not able to counteract them with a power sufficient to maintain its life or usefulness.

Therefore, because we believe further struggle to be useless, we yield to circumstances that we deplore and cannot control. Part of our crusade work with the sorrow we shall ever have in giving up any part of the work, established as it has been in all sincere prayer and faith and love of our hearts. Still we would not be unmindful of the kind Providence who has granted to this enterprise so much of useful success as it has enjoyed which under the circumstances has been greater than we could expect—humbly praying that God will grant some other means that shall hinder from evil influences and raise above temptation those for whom we pray, that the channel we have sought to open may not be cut off—now this committee who have worked under most trying circumstances ... that remains—request of the Crusade that they be made a permanent committee to hold this, the avails of the Reading Room, to be expended in the following way: That they be held as a fund to provide special effort in aid of the cause that this committee shall keep in correspondence with the best Temperance lecturers and whenever the time and circumstance shall seem fitting procure temperance lectures or moral and religious meetings for the benefit of the Reformed men, and the general good of the community that entrusted them with these means so managing them as that they shall cover the greatest possible ground and bring the greatest amount of good in the way prescribed. That the committee one member shall hold the fund and the others keep a constant and full account of its use with dates and ... ready for report to the Crusade at any time. We also request that this report be accepted and be transcribed in the records for reference at any time by the Crusade.

Respectfully submitted by the Board of Management.

"THE BLOODY SHIRT"

Some worthy people, deeming it impossible that civilized beings would actually defend organized outrage and murder, have supposed that the Democratic organs and leaders who sneer about 'the bloody shirt' resort to ridicule from a conviction that the wrongs alleged have no existence, or are exaggerated for political effect. The treatment of the indisputable facts of the recent massacre at Hamburg entirely refutes this charitable theory, and shows that when the Democrats raise the jeering cry of "bloody shirt" they knowingly and deliberately seek to ridicule and palliate the systematic slaughter of American citizens. Every Democratic organ in the North, and especially the rebel-sympathizing sheets in New England, have sneered and joked and shouted 'bloody shirt' over the cowardly butchering of seven defenceless men by ex Confederate scoundrels in a State of this Union. Even in Congress such boot-licking demagogues as Sunset Cox received the announcement of this bloody outrage with the same contemptuous epithet, and we may therefore accept this admission of Democrats that they raise the cry of "bloody shirt" simply to divert public attention from such actual and horrible occurrences as that at Hamburg There was one Democrat in the House who had sense enough to perceive that Cox's buffoonery must disgust all decent people, and that an open defence of wholesale assassination would arouse the indignation of the loyal masses So Mr Lamar, who nervously anticipates the exposure of the organized outrage and slaughter by which he obtained credentials to the Senate from Mississippi, sought to counteract the effect of Cox's servile folly by repudiating sympathy with the South Carolina infamy The contemptible Northern apologists for that cold-blooded butchery should have their epithet 'bloody shirt' crammed down their throats by these explicit admissions of a Southern Democrat on the floor of the House

'Through all the uncertainty which 'exasperation and exaggerations have 'thrown around this subject, there is one 'fact which gleams out acknowledged, or 'if not acknowledged is indisputable. It 'is that a body of white men did, without 'authority of law put to death a number 'of black men, who had been taken as 'prisoners—I mean who had been captured and deprived of their liberty, but 'who were not prisoners in the legal sense 'of the term inasmuch as those capturing 'them had no right under the law to de-'prive them of their personal liberty"

* * * * *

'In my place here, and with the responsibilities surrounding me, I assert that no 'excuse or palliation can possibly be 'found for these outrages and this barbarism"

That is the statement of L Q C Lamar, of Mississippi, concerning a monstrous crime which Northern doughfaces have hastened to belittle and defend! That is what the Democratic organs mean when they cry "bloody shirt!"

Lamar saw that the civilized people of this country would not stand the championship of such assassins by members of the National Congress, and the indiscretion of his colleagues forced him to the front to gain for himself and party the credit of one emphatic protest. It was simply needed, for in addition to the shameful utterances of Cox, there was Jones, of Kentucky—the same who lately declared that the names of Lincoln and Lee would be held in equal veneration—who hastened to eulogize Butler, the chief of the band of murderers, as "a distinguished soldier, hero and statesman;" boasting that Butler was "a gallant and brilliant officer in the Confederate Army from the firing of the first gun of the war, to the last," and concluding with this effusive endorsement of the leader of the Hamburg assassins:

"Sir, if there be a man in the Union whom we can recognize as the proud chevalier—sans peur et sans reproche—it is M. C. Butler of South Carolina."

No wonder that Lamar thought it time to throttle off his Ku Klux sympathizing colleagues. The reports of all parties plainly show that this "proud chevalier" was the acknowledged leader and chief of the band of scoundrels who invaded a peaceful town with rifles and artillery and concluded their bloody work by the cowardly assassination of seven defenceless citizens, and the pillaging of stores. Governor Chamberlain could not bring the "chevalier" promptly before the bar of outraged justice he will fall in his duty and if he performs it honorably we shall be interested to observe how Lamar and his the St. Louis Convention on the subject follows will sustain the vindication of the laws.

THE PEOPLE'S CITY.

A FAMILIAR TALE.

We imagine that the Greeley masquerade of 1872 and the "Reform" clap-trap of the present Democratic canvass have deceived very few people into believing that the Bourbons have changed their nature since the days when they gave aid and comfort to treason. If any have been persuaded that the Democracy of to-day is a whit less reactionary and dangerous than that of 1861-5, the following utterances by that "war-horse" of the party, Samuel J. Anderson, at the Tilden meeting in Portland, will prove instructive to them It will be seen that the more investigation by a joint committee of the two parties of the outrages and assassinations in Mississippi, is sufficient to provoke the furious Anderson to threats of "revolution" which sound very much like quotations from the Bangor Democrat of 1861. Hear him

Already they have commenced work in Mississippi, already sent their men out preparatory to making a raid on that State to take that from the Democratic column. I can only say that if that is done, if the Republican party dare again to take the course they have already taken, and take the Presidential election by force of their bayonets, illegally to wrest from the Democratic party votes that belong to their nominees for President and Vice-President, I believe there will arise such a revolution throughout the whole length and breadth of the country as we never yet have seen, and it will not be put down by bayonets that they will be able to bring. (Applause.) If they do by bayonets what they are moving to do there will be such a feeling excited throughout this country that not all the bayonets that Grant can bring can place Hayes and Wheeler in the Presidential chair.—Anderson's Rauffcation Speech

There is a striking resemblance between the tone and temper of the above and the following threat uttered by Marcellus Emery when it was proposed to maintain the supremacy of the Nation

'When the spirit of the great Democracy of the whole North is aroused, AS IT SPEEDILY WILL BE then the hordes of Black Republicans will never cross Mason & Dixon's line on the errand of coercion Ere they reach that line they will have laid A MILLION OF DEMOCRATS in the dust'

Indeed Anderson's bellowing was almost equal to this of Emery s in the early days of the Rebellion

"ALL HONOR TO THE GALLANT DEMOCRACY OF PENNSYLVANIA' Their Representatives in the Legislature have NOBLY GIVEN UTTERANCE TO THEIR SENTIMENTS IN VOTING TO A MAN, against the Tory bill of Gov Curtin, appropriating $1,000,000 TO RAISE AN ARMY for the SUBJUGATION OF SOVEREIGN STATES The brave TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DEMOCRATS IN THE OLD KEYSTONE STATE WILL NOT LIFT AN ARM AGAINST THEIR GALLANT BRETHREN OF THE SOUTH, who are only DEFENDING their homes and their firesides, their liberty and their lives against the ASSAULTS OF AN INVADING FOE"

These are the men who raise the cry of 'bloody shirt" in ridicule of the wholesale massacre of American citizens They are just the same men who exulted over the slaughter of Union soldiers by traitors in arms, and they are ready to defend any outrage that will help to place their old rebel allies in control of the United States Government They are the men who were for Slavery and Secession in 1861, who were for McClellan and surrender in 1864, who were for Seymour and repudiation in 1868, who hypocritically shouted for Greeley while working for the "Lost Cause" in 1872, and to-day they are for Tilden and a complete Confederate restoration. They applaud the cut-throat Butler and denounce his innocent victims, crawl at the feet of Southern demagogues, and would surrender to the unrepentant foes of the Union every principle for which our soldiers fought and died

We give the bellicose Anderson and his confederates notice that the people of this country are determined that the lives and the rights of its citizens shall be protected in the North and in the South, and that when he undertakes that "revolution" he will find that the people have profited by some lessons of mistaken leniency in the past

THE POPULAR ENTHUSIASM FOR MR. BLAINE We have already called the attention of our readers to the gratifying fact that at the great Republican ratification meetings in different sections of the country the name which elicited the greatest enthusiasm was that of Maine's honored son, James G. Blaine This was especially marked at the great gatherings in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Cooper Institute, New York and at the immense Republican mass-meeting in San Francisco. A very intelligent Maine lady who is visiting relatives from this State in San Francisco, in a recent letter, describes the meeting, which she attended, as a "perfect ovation to Mr Blaine," and says the enthusiasm exceeded any other demonstration of the kind she had ever witnessed The building was thronged with the best people of San Francisco, ladies and gentlemen, to the number of over five thousand, and she says the newspaper reports (from which we have previously quoted) entirely failed to give an adequate idea of the enthusiastic reception of every mention of the "gallant Republican leader." We make a brief extract from the letter

"Since my disappointment at the defeat of our Maine candidate at Cincinnati, I have derived the most comfort and pleasure from attendance at the great Republican ratification meeting in this city, which was a perfect ovation to "Blaine" I never before witnessed such a scene of thrilling enthusiasm The local papers gave but a grudging account of it for they were in the interest of other candidates during the canvass. But it was glorious to us Maine people to witness the grand outburst of enthusiasm at the first allusion to our own favorite. The name of Blaine ran through the great audience like wild-fire; ladies arose and waved their handkerchiefs and clapped their hands; the men sprang to their feet, venerable grey-headed gentlemen standing up in their seats to cheer the slightest allusion to Maine's hero, and it was plain to see that one name stirred the pulsing of every Union heart. There were over five thousand persons in the hall, comprising the solid men of San Francisco, and the best and most intelligent people of this community. The names of the Republican candidates were heartily applauded and allusions to other distinguished statesmen elicited cordial response; but at the mention of word or deed of "Blaine" there was such a whirlwind of cheering that I became nervous about the stability of the hall, and when his noble despatch to Gov. Hayes was read from the stage the enthusiasm defied all restraint and it was quite twenty minutes before any word from the platform could be heard. I felt very proud of our State and of the patriotic statesmen who has won the hearts of the loyal people, from New England to the Golden Gate. His noble message of congratulation to his successful competitor, is a trifle for all, and I trust all will emulate his spirit in setting the example of the cause above every other consideration."

THE HON. JAMES HENDERSON, A Washington (district) says: "It is no secret that Tilden is opposed to the repeal of the resumption act, and that no such bill can be passed over his veto. On that question, then, the Democratic party is committed to hard money. Should the Democratic House of Representatives refuse to take action on the currency question in consequence with the declaration of

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—First Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 21

Mr Cameron, of Wis from the committee on commerce, reported favorably on the Senate bill in relation to vacancies in offices of appraisers of customs at any part of the United States Placed on calendar

The Senate resumed consideration of the bill providing for the sale of the Osage ceded lands in Kansas to actual settlers the pending question being on the question of Mr. Edmunds to strike out the 8th section During the discussion Mr Edmunds said he didn t wonder from the way things went on that the country had trouble with the Indians It had become an axiom with the Indians that the palefaces carried a forked tongue, and he did not wonder that the Indians sometimes kicked out of the traces and behaved in a very rough way

Pending the discussion the morning hour expired and the bill was laid over.

Mr Cragin, from the committee on naval affairs, reported adversely on the Senate bill directing the transfer of certain amounts from the naval pension fund, and it was indefinitely postponed

The impeachment trial was postponed until Monday next on account of the illness of Mr Carpenter, counsel for the accused, and Lapham of the Board of Managers

The Senate resumed consideration of the River and Harbor appropriation bill the pending question being on the motion of Mr. Thurman to recommit the bill to the Committee on Appropriations, with instructions to reduce the total amount to $4,000 000

Mr Withers spoke in favor of the bill and argued that the expenditures proposed by it would be of a lasting benefit to the country.

Mr Dawes favored the substitute proposed by Mr. Edmunds, to appropriate $4,000 000 and have it expended under the direction of the Secretary of War.

He then referred to the figures quoted by the Senator from North Carolina (Merrimon) on Tuesday, and said the Senator had been misled in quoting from the biennial Register as to the number of employees in the civil service of the Government In the making of that Register in 1873 the names of all persons employed by the Government were inserted and it did not consist of those employed in the civil service only. He also quoted from figures stated by Merrimon in regard to the expenditures of the Government and said he was in error there also

Mr. Dawes then read from an official statement, showing the expenditures of the Government from 1869 to 1875 inclusive, as follows In 1869 $190,496,354 95, 1870, $164 421 507 15; 1871, $157,583 827 58; 1872, $175 201,856 19, 1873 $180 488,656 90, 1874, $194,118,985, 1865, $171,529,848 27

Mr Dawes argued that the Republican party had cut down expenses as steadily as possible.

After some further discussion the Senate at 5 o'clock went into Executive session and soon after adjourned.

House

A number of private bills were acted upon.

Mr. Pratt of Iowa, from the Committee on Public Buildings, submitted a report in regard to the New York Post-office, which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Private Calendar the first bill being one confirming certain land claims in the State of Missouri The enacting clause was struck out and the bill so reported to the House, which confirmed the action of the committee, and so the bill was defeated.

At 3.15 the House adjourned to Monday.

NEW YORK CITY

Starving Men—A Bread Riot Feared—Arrangements for Work.

NEW YORK, July 21. At a meeting of the Jersey City Board of Finance last evening a communication was received from Mayor Seidler urging the board to make some arrangements whereby the thousands of men in the city starving for want of bread could get work. The Mayor said it was of no use to talk eloquently to half-starved men about the hard times, and if no work was provided for them there would undoubtedly be a bread riot. The communication was referred to a special committee of five, who were empowered to visit the Board of Aldermen and Board of Works, with a view of beginning public improvements at which the men could be put to work.

NEW YORK, July 21—Tribune special
CAMP OF FIFTH CAVALRY
Sage Creek, July 19

Out of 2 300 Cheyennes belonging to Red Cloud Agency, all have gone North except about 300 There has been a great demand for ammunition the Indians even offering a pony for 30 rounds of cartridges About 100 Indians were wounded in Gen Crook's fight on the Rosebud in June, and they are now distributed among friends at the agency There is much mourning for Indians who were killed in that engagement The Indians acknowledge a loss of 86 killed in Crook's fight, and about 280 in Custer's fight

Red Cloud's Butchers Going to Join Sitting Bull.

Red Cloud has armed and sent out a great many warriors to Sitting Bull even taking the rations of beef issued on the 10th for the women and children, to supply these warriors with food on their way North Many Indians moved to join Sitting Bull immediately after the sun dance of last month, but were restrained When the news of Custer's defeat came to them they at once left in large and small parties until now the Cheyennes are nearly all gone, and most of the entire fighting strength of the Sioux.

WASHINGTON

The Conference Committees

WASHINGTON, July 21 The committee of conference on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill to-day, informally agreed upon a basis for settling their principal disagreement as follows: The reduction in the number of clerks to be about two thirds the number originally proposed by the House, the heads of the Executive Department to determine the classification of their respective clerical force and their conference committee to recommend that the salaries be fixed accordingly The committee adjourned until next Monday and in the interval inquiries are to be made and information collected in the Executive Department, which it is hoped will lead to a formal agreement on the basis above suggested

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

What About the British Sioux?—You Can Have 'Em All Johnny.

LONDON, July 21. In the Commons this afternoon. Sir Edward William Watkins asked James Lowther, one of the Under Secretaries for the Colonial Department, if he could give any information regarding the conflict between the United States troops and Sioux Indians, many of which tribe are British subjects, and whether the origin of the conflict was not a breach of a treaty regarding the Indian reservation and subsidies which may provoke widespread antagonism between the Indians and whites on both American and British territory. He asked whether the Government proposed to tender its good offices in the interest of the Indian subjects of Great Britain and of humanity.

Lowther replied that so far no information had been received regarding the conflict and he could not express an opinion as to its origin or possible consequences. He had no information tending to show that any British subjects are connected with these events. As at present advised the Government has no intention of interfering.

Very low tides yesterday.

In this hot weather people find Fraser's ice cream a great luxury.

There will be private excursions to Mt. Kineo and Pushaw to-day.

The excursion party from Orono yesterday numbered about 200.

Remember that the great show will pass through this city en route for Houlton tomorrow morning.

The Rector will officiate as usual at St John's (Episcopal) church on Sunday.

The Bangor Cornet Band will give an out-door concert in the park this evening.

The bark Hosea Rich is now at Bacon & Huckins' wharf She was not injured by going ashore,

The officers picked up a man yesterday who was apparently insane. He was preaching around the streets

The Augusta base-ball club want to give the Orients of this city a trial They will undoubtedly have the privilege

An interesting game of ball will be played on the Common this afternoon between the Orients and a picked nine.

We were misinformed in our item yesterday about the lightning striking Dr Watson's barn He was burning out a hornet's nest

It is the intention to make the public meeting of the Reform Club, to-morrow afternoon at City Hall, one of more than usual interest.

The sale of tickets for the Handel excursion is not exclusive, but is open to all friends of the Association who wish to enjoy a good time

Matthews' bill board near the Franklin House was cut down yesterday morning between twelve and one o clock by some malicious rascals

The house and lot on Elm street, formerly occupied by Walter Weeks, was sold at auction last Thursday by Pearl & Webb to Mr E C Nichols for $4 550

We have been furnished with a large bottle of Dovell's mucilage, by Paul R Seavey, as a sample of that on sale at his store, and find it of excellent quality

The small schooner Forest King drifted ashore on Emerson's Point last Thursday She is loaded with sawdust and is now lying on the rocks Her stern is somewhat damaged

Those of our readers who are interested in the early history of "G Washington," or may wish to have solid jewelry made or repaired are referred to the advertisement of Eben Stevens

We see it announced that Miss Dora Wiley, formerly a resident of Bangor has been engaged to sing with the Philharmonic Club during their professional tour the coming season

We notice by an exchange that George A Stront of this city, and John A Twombly of Kenduskeag, are among the pupils of the American Asylum for the education and instruction of the deaf and dumb at Hartford, Conn

The sale of tickets for the Kellogg concert at Orono, commenced there Thursday and two hundred and thirty-four were sold the first day A number have been sold since This indicates a success for the graduating class.

The Knights of St Patrick excursion will take place Saturday, 5th of August — The party will leave in the evening for Bar Harbor, returning Sunday evening The Irish band will accompany the excursion ists and a gay time may be expected

Joseph H Merrill, the boy who disappeared last Tuesday evening, has not been heard from up to the present One of the officers thinks he saw him on Exchange street the evening he disappeared, in company with a rough, but did not take particular notice, as his suspicions had not been aroused Universal sympathy is expressed for the young man's family, as he he was a steady and good boy

The seventh volume of the Maine Historical Society's collections is published, and may be procured by members and others at Duren's Bookstore It contains 523 pages octavo The first five of the articles are by Hon John E Godfrey of this city 1—The Ancient Penobscot, or Panawanskek 2—The Pilgrims at Penobscot. 3—Jean Vincent, Baron de Saint Castin 4—Castine, the Younger, 5—Bashaba and Damarines Joseph Williamson, Esq of Belfast contributes six articles The book contains 31 articles

IMPORTANT The workmen who are digging the trench for the wall which is to protect the wing wall on the Brewer end of the dam, have uncovered the ledge for a distance of over twenty feet and only three feet below the base of the present wall. The new wall is to be four feet wide will rest on the ledge, and will be laid solid in cement Liquid cement is being poured into the rear of the wing wall These improvements will make the Brewer end of the dam secure beyond a shadow of a doubt The tides are unprecedently low at present and at extreme low water yesterday the water in the river did not reach the suction pipes. This is a grave state of affairs and will undoubtedly convince our citizens that the dam should be finished at the earliest possible day, so that an unfailing supply of water may be constantly available.

BALD MOUNTAIN will soon, become a great resort for those who desire to make a pleasant excursion down the river It is situated about nine miles below the city between Hampden and Mill Creek, and can be reached in about 50 minutes There is a neat little pavilion near the landing with a floor suitable to dance on. The view from the top of the mountain is magnificent The country can be seen for miles around and the spectacle is grand. A good spring is near the landing and shade trees are plenty The summit of the mountain can be reached by a ten minutes walk Through the kindness of Messrs. Ross and Howell we enjoyed a sail to this delightful spot yesterday, on the fine tug Howell. Most of our readers are familiar with the fine scenery along the shores and as yesterday afternoon was a delightful one, the trip was more than pleasing. We can heartily recommend this resort to excursionists on account of its delightful location and because it is so easy of access.

STATE COLLEGE. The following is the programme for Commencement week at the State College in Orono:

Saturday evening, July 29th, will be the Prize Declamation by the Sophomore Class.

Sunday evening, the 30th, President Allen will give the Baccalaureate Sermon before the graduating class.

Monday evening will be the exhibition of the Junior class. This will consist of the speaking of the prize essays.

Tuesday afternoon will occur the exercises of class day. They will commence at 3.30 o'clock and will doubtless be exceedingly interesting.

Tuesday evening will occur the levee at the President's, at which there will doubtless be a large number present.

Wednesday forenoon will occur the real exercises of Commencement, the graduation of the present Senior class.

After these exercises will be the Commencement dinner, in which a large number of visitors and graduates will participate.

In the afternoon will be the address before the Alumni and Under-graduates.

In the evening will be held the grand concert which will give a rich treat to those in that vicinity.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg and the Mendelssohn Quintette Club is a combination so fine that nothing needs to be said in praise of the concert The persons speak for themselves, and it will without doubt be attended by a large audience

All these exercises with the exception of the President's levee, will be held at the Town Hall in Orono

FINE ENTERTAINMENT. One of the finest entertainments given in Bangor this year took place at the Third church vestry last evening under the auspices of Mrs. Grace Ross Buck, for the purpose of raising a sum of money for a new church in Coalburg, Va Contrary to expectations a small audience was present. The opening piece was a pretty trio by Miss Osgood, Mrs. Gardiner and Lawrence. The reputation of the singers is a sufficient recommendation of its rendering Miss Fannie Dana then made her debut in public She sung a beautiful selection entitled, "Let me dream again" She is possessed of a sweet voice and her execution was excellent. She deserves to be congratulated on her first appearance Miss Hattie Shaw then played a harp solo in a very pleasing manner, for which she was complimented with an encore The next number on the programme was a recitation by Miss Mary Prentiss, entitled "An order for a picture" by Alice Cary The rendering of which was finished and showed careful study and afforded much satisfaction to the audience Mrs. Buck was then introduced and sung an aria from Lucretia Borgia with fine effect. Her voice was as rich and musical as ever and her manner very fascinating In response to a hearty encore she sung a beautiful ballad Mrs Buck's voice has lost none of its former sweetness and power After an intermission of a few minutes Mrs Crowell appeared and sung "With Verdeur Clad" from the Creation, for which she received her full meed of praise Mr. Haynes' fine tenor was well adapted to the pleasing selection "An Evening Wish," which he sung with excellent effect An aria "Moonlight, with a harp obligato by Miss Shaw, was next sung by Mrs Buck Hearty applause followed the rendering "The Watchman" was then sung by Mrs Gardner The audience evinced a desire to hear her again, but no response was made — Miss Prentiss next appeared and recited a very pleasing piece entitled "Tom's Story which excited the interest and approval of the listeners This classic and interesting entertainment closed with the rendition of "My Mother bids me bind my hair," by Mrs Buck Miss Garland and Mrs Jewell officiated as accompanists, which part they performed with recognized skill and ability The principal feature of the evening was Mrs Buck's first appearance since her return to Bangor, and the hearty applause elicited by her various selections evinced only in a slight degree the enjoyment and appreciation of her hearers We sincerely hope that this lady who has been such a favorite in this city in former years, may be heard again in public before she returns to her Southern home The stage was adorned with choice flowers arranged in a tasty manner The entertainment was one of rare excellence and merit throughout

Police Court

In the Police Court yesterday, John Randall was sent up for 30 days for drunkenness John Corson shared the same fate The mittimus was suspended on George Firth Thomas Montgomery was also committed on a suspended mittimus for the same offence

NEW MAGAZINES

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE the numbers for the weeks ending July 15th and 22d have a large variety of valuable articles, among which are the following The Cruise of the Challenger, Nature, Russian Village Communities, Macmillan, Quakers and Quakerism, Macmillan, Sketch of a Journey across Africa, by Lt Cameron, of the Royal Navy, Good Words Unbreakable or Toughened Glass, Popular Science Review, Johnsonese poetry, Spectator, Physics and Physiology of Harmony, Westminster Review, Ordeals and Oaths, Macmillan Leigh Hunt and Lord Brougham, with original letters, by S H Townshend Meyer, Temple Bar, The Extradition Quarrel, Economist, Lunar Studies, Spectator, The Remington Type-Setting Machine, Nature, Physical Influences upon Character, Victoria Magazine, etc, together with the conclusion of the Lady Candidate, an amusing story, from Blankwood, an instalment of What She Came Through, an attractive story by Sarah Tyler, and the beginning of a new serial by Mrs Oliphant. Poetry and miscellany are also provided Littell & Gay Boston are the publishers

The Midsummer Holiday Number of SCRIBNER is an attempt of something new on the part of the publishers, who announce that all the care that is usually bestowed upon the Christmas issue has gone to the making of this warm weather number The subjects dealt with have an out-of-door interest and the illustrations (of which there are nearly one hundred) are quite in sympathy with the text. There are five articles of summer travel, the localities described are Niagara, Colorado, Nova Scotia, the city of Trier on the Mosel, and Hide-and-Seek Town, a New England summer resort of great attractiveness, the true name of which is left to be guessed. John Burroughs writes in his own delightful language about Birds, and Miss Bridges, whose bird paintings have been so much admired in New York, has made her first wood-drawings to illustrate this article. There are two remarkable short stories in the number The Living Mummy, by Tourgueneff, the Russian novelest, which it is believed has not before appeared in English, and Crawford's Consistency, by Henry James, Jr. Of the serials Philip Nolan's Friends is continued Bret Hart's Gabriel Conroy is concluded, (this being the tenth installment) and Fannie Hodgson Burnett's That Lass 'o Lowrie's, a story of English mining life, is begun. Among the poetry are R. H. Stoddard's Centennial Ode, entitled Hospes Civitatis, and the Flood of Years, by William Cullen Bryant, both remarkable poems; with shorter pieces by Mrs. Thaxter, T. B. Aldrich, H. H., and others. In the Editorial Department, Dr. Holland writes about The Manufacture of Boston, the Social Evil and The Dead Beat Nuisance; The Old Cabinet contains [illegible] [illegible] the Short [illegible] [illegible]

ST. NICHOLAS FOR AUGUST, is probably the very finest issue of a Children's Magazine [illegible] It is called the "Midsummer Holiday Number," and in make-up and contents is specially adapted to the season; and the great variety and uniform excellence of its contributions are indeed remarkable. All classes of articles are represented, anecdote, adventure, description, sentiment, fun, fancy; and each representative is worthy to rank among the best of its kind. Miss Lucy Larcom's Midsummer and the Poets, is, in purpose, taste, and execution, wholly admirable and delightful Miss Fidelia Bridges is the one artist to illustrate a paper on the poetry of Midsummer, and her drawing—one of the best she has ever put on wood—is supplemented by several other beautiful engravings These make a prominent feature of the number, but, in reading it through, the children will visit almost every imaginable realm of pleasure With the Queen of the Moles they will descend underground, with Little Dame Dot they will go sailing through the air. Celia Thaxter's story of the Bear at Appledore, James T Field's funny Song of the Turtle and Flamingo, and Sphinx's Seaside Sketches, will fill them with the spirit of the beach, Lucretia P Hale's amusing Peterkin Family, will invite them to a picnic on a cool country green They will laugh long and heartily at Sam's Four Bits, and Some Funny Summer Verses, they will be thrilled and fascinated by the sight in Mr Brook's story of a terrible snow-slide in the Sierras Mrs Oliphant will lead them through the grand halls of Windsor Castle, at the time of those great folks the Tudors, and Mrs Diaz will conduct them to the humble but quite as interesting House that Jack Built where Addie Ledyard will show them some old friends in the largest and best drawings she has lately attempted On the opening page of the number they will find a delightful poem by Mrs Dodge illustrated by Miss Hallock's splendid frontispiece; and further on, the girls will have the pleasure of a fresh hearty inspiring talk from that good friend of girls Mrs A D T Whitney They will enjoy the dainty poems by Horace E Scudder and Mary E Bradley, will look through a Wonder Box with a dear little Fairy and will join the Fire-flies in some Midsummer Frolic Jack-in-the-Pulpit will charm them as only he can, the good Deacon Green will award some beautiful prizes for copies of the Declaration of Independence, and the Letter Box and Riddle-Box—both stuffed to their lids with good things —will be open to all Surely here is fun for the holidays"

A BAD PRACTICE One of our ablest and most popular physicians requests us to say a word of warning against the bad practice of over-watering the streets The sprinkling carts do not produce any injurious effect upon the public health but the custom of deluging the streets with water from a hose is the cause of a good deal of malaria and throat disease It produces a sudden lowering of the temperature, which in the hot summer evenings when people most indulge in the use of the hose has a bad effect upon health and is especially injurious to children The water evaporates and thus produces a damp and depressing atmosphere which frequently induces chills and fever and other unpleasant maladies profitable indeed to the doctors who unselfishly protest against having work made for them The remedy is not to cease sprinkling the streets and yards, but to use more moderation in the cooling work —New Haven Palladium

Gents—You may perhaps remember that I wrote you several weeks ago in regard to the use of the PERUVIAN SYRUP for my wife who was suffering from general debility, the sequence of Typhoid Dysentery I had tried the most noted physicians in this State, and also in Canada without relief At your recommendation she commenced the use of the Syrup the first four bottles made but little impression but while taking the fifth she began to improve rapidly, and now, after using six of the dollar bottles, she has regained her strength, and is able to do most of the work about the house, and I feel that I cannot speak too highly in praise of the PERUVIAN SYRUP I have prescribed it to several of my patients, and have procured the sale of several dozen of it here You can make any use of this letter you see fit

BOSTON March 23, 1876

H R STEVENS Esq

Dear Sir—A few days after the 4th of July last I got my leg hurt by a fellow workman letting a plank fall, which struck me on the knee For four months following I was under the treatment of the physicians at the D spensary at the end of which time they told me they could do nothing more for me and that I must go to the hospital and have my leg amputated above the knee. I was removed to the hospital and lay there ten weeks under the treatment of the best skill the hospital afforded No pen can describe the great suffering I endured My leg was swollen to nearly the size of my body and all the surface of my knee turned black and I was told that my knee was so diseased as to render it impossible to save my leg, and unless it was amputated soon I would die When I first was at the hospital I raised such an objection to the amputation of my leg they consented to try one other mixture which was to cut out all the diseased flesh and replace it with sound flesh from the other leg They did cut six pieces from my well leg and placed it where the diseased flesh had been removed, but the bone was so much diseased that this experiment proved a failure, and I was removed to my home in a hopeless condition Other physicians were then employed until all the money which I had saved from my earnings had been expended and one thing after another disposed of to pay doctors bills until my family was in a destitute condition with no hope for myself except relief by death At this time Mr Hill the police officer in my street called in to see me and after reflecting pecuniary assistance to my family brought some VEGETINE for me urging me to give it a faithful trial saying, whether those two bottles were gone I would see that I had some more After I had been taking the VEGETINE three days the ulcers on my knee commenced to discharge, and I cannot begin to tell the frightful quantity that was discharged during the following eight days, and though previously I had suffered intense pain on rendering sleep impossible after taking the VEGETINE three days the pain all left me and my whole complaint seemed to be growing out of me with this corrupted matter The VEGETINE was not only forcing disease from me but it gave me strength from day to day When I commenced the fifth bottle of VEGETINE the swelling had all left my leg, and the sore which covered the whole surface of my knee, commenced to heal up to the bone I am now on the sixth bottle, the sore is entirely healed and my bone is so improved as to enable me to walk all over town The VEGETINE has saved my life It has cured my leg and restored me to health my knee bears the marks of my great suffering and it will always afford me pleasure to show the proof of what this good medicine has done for me

I am dear sir very gratefully

H. R. STEVENS, Esq

Dear Sir—In the spring of 1869 I was stricken down with fever which had a long and almost hopeless run The best medical advice being in attendance I was taken through the fever but it left me terribly reduced and weak with excruciating pains in my side back and hips I was completely prostrated with kidney complaint and no medicine seemed to reach my case

In this condition I was persuaded to try VEGETINE by a friend whom it cured of the same disease and it seemed as though I could feel the effect of the first dose through my whole system and from that moment I began to mend gradually, growing better from day to day and I followed on with the VEGETINE until it completely restored me to health since which time I have been able to perform my duties as a police officer, enjoying good health and there is no doubt about the great value of VEGETINE in Kidney Complaint and similar diseases I am respectfully

PROVIDENCE.

'Let's see Do you go to school now, Freddy?' asked Mrs Phelps, with an appearance of interest.

'Yes, ma'am,' he replied in a frightened whisper.

'Who is your teacher?' she asked

'Miss Smith, sir—I mean ma'am'

'What do you study, Freddy?' asked Kate

"Rithmetic, jogrify an' readin'," he answered, falling into the school-boy singsong.

"Do you like to go to school?" asked Mr Phelps.

'Pretty well, thank you, sir."

And then they asked him what he liked best of his studies and whether he liked his teacher, how old he was, and a great many more questions of that class, and all with an air of so much affability and interest, that he became entirely bewildered Did they know, or didn't they? Were they fooled, or were they fooling him? Boy nature has very little faculty for adapting itself to a false position, and he kept getting redder and redder.

Finally, summoning up all his resolution he slid off his chair, and mumbled out that he guessed he must go home.

"Must you go so soon? I'm so sorry" said Mrs Phelps, graciously "You have made us ever so nice a call"

He stood a moment, getting very red, and then blurted out indistinctly

"Mr. Phelps, I rang your bell for fun, but I'm sorry," and with that he slid out of the room

"I fancy he won't trouble us again," said Reginald. "If that is what you call coals of fire, it is tolerably effective treatment.'

'I suppose it's called coals of fire because it scorches one's cheeks so I thought he would burn up," said Kate

'I'm afraid it wasn't exactly coals of fire in the apostle's sense," said Mrs Phelps, for Freddy thought we misunderstood him all the while"

It was a much more effective kind than the apostle's, for that very reason'

'Why, Reginald'' said his mother, for it was he who had spoken

'There's no 'why Reginald' about it," answered he 'When you act as if you didn't know a person had intended to harm you and do a kindness to him, it makes him five times as ashamed as if he thought you knew what he had intended, and were being good in order to shame him."

"The boy's right enough there,' remarked his father. "In fact, for my part, I think nothing is more impertinent than being good in an ostentatious way to our enemies Returning good for evil is fine when you don't seem to know you are doing it, either as a point of manners or morals for I believe coals of fire are capable of being used as offensively as any carnal weapons I have often answered an ugly speech in a sharper tone than I otherwise would, because I thought I should less anger somebody that way, than by assuming to be better than he"

'Oh, by the way, what was that joke between mother and you last night?' asked Bill, lounging on the sofa

'Oh, yes, to be sure, you know you said you would tell us, said Kate, and now Reginald is at home, it would be a good time. Please do'"

'Would you tell them, Ada?"

'I suppose they will not give us any rest till we do," Mrs Phelps replied with a smile of resignation.

If you really don't want to tell us, I wouldn't,' said Reginald

'Why, no, of course'' said Kate 'I didn't mean to tease'"

"Oh, it isn't so serious a matter as all that,' remarked Mr Phelps 'It's no secret, really I don't believe in secrets The only really secret things about people are the things they don't know themselves. We needn't be afraid of telling too much about ourselves, if we only tell all we know, for that's mighty little, and generally mistaken at that."

"I'm not at all sure that I remember enough of the story to tell it at all," he pursued, collecting his thoughts; 'you should have heard your Aunt Kate I never knew anybody who loved a joke as she did, poor girl Well, it happened in this wise Your grandfather was living in Pittsfield then, a half-grown city, one of those hobbledehoy communities that combine the disadvantages of city and village. Kate and I were the two oldest children, as old about as Reginald there, and you, Kate. One evening—it couldn't have been much later in the year than now—she and I were coming home from evening meeting, it being about nine o'clock Kate had on a white dress, that I remember distinctly'

When it must have been considerably later in the year than this, father, because girls don't put on white for a month or two yet" said Kate

Very likely, I'm not particular about the season, "he replied 'The dress was white, anyhow Well, Kate and I were walking along in the bright moonlight, laughing and talking and having a high time She was always full of fun when coming home from meeting, or any other place where she had been obliged to be sober Such places never damped her spirits as they do some people's but only bottled them up, and when she got out you might expect an explosion She was mimicking some of the personal peculiarities of the good brethren who had participated in the meeting She was an excellent mimic, but so tender hearted that when she had been taking anybody off, she always ended with saying, 'I'm sorry for him'

'Some little scamps were around ringing door bells just as they are to-night and Kate, having exhausted the material of the prayer meeting, took a crazy notion into her head that it would be good fun for us to try it just for once, and dared me to ring somebody's bell It was in vain I argued with her, and showed her how seriously it would compromise persons of our age and responsibilities to be caught in such a prank She would not listen to reason The risk, she said made it all the more fun 'There is nothing crazier I tell you, Reginald, than a girl who is bent on a prank She actually scares a man by her foolhardiness.

'All my efforts to reason Kate out of her freaks," continued Mr Phelps, "were useless, and she finally declared that unless I would take my life in my hand and ring somebody's door bell, she would And she meant it, too, for suddenly dropping my arm she was half way up the walk to the stoop of a house before I saw what she was bent on Then I whispered Come back Kate, come back I'll do it'

'How well I remember just how she looked under the bright moon as she paused and glanced back at me! I can see her black eyes dance now. She was standing on the grass by the brick walk, daintily holding her dress up from the dew. For a moment she seemed irresolute whether or not to keep on, but finally came back to me

'Not this house,' said I, anxious to gain time, and inventing a fib for the purpose 'There's somebody sick here.'

"The next was Deacon Tuttle's, whose gift for praying and talking against time was invaluable, when the evening meetings were thinner than usual. 'Nevertheless, Kate had taken a dislike to him because his wife always looked scared, and no story of sickness or guests that I could trump up would do, but that I must ring that bell.

"But at that moment steps approached from behind, and Deacon Tuttle himself overtook us He had not been at prayer meeting that evening for a wonder, and so we had supposed him to be at home. Seeing us pausing at the gate, and looking toward the house, he naturally inferred that we were going to make a call.

'Come in, young folks, come in,' he said with effusion. 'I suppose you've come to labor with me for neglecting the means of grace according to Scripture rule.'

"The deacon, as a regular attendant, felt that he could afford to make this joke. But he was so urgent to have us come in that I did not know how to get out of it, and was afraid we should actually have to accept his invitation and make him a call, which would have been an ending of our freak. But Kate never lost her head, whatever happened. Women are the only strategists who use the same artillery against friends and foes—and answered mischievously, nudging me:

"'We were just debating whether to ring your bell or not, deacon, as you came along, but I'm afraid it is rather late for a call. We shall have to postpone your discipline to another evening.'

"And so, with a good night to the deacon, we went along.

"'Got out of that neatly,' said Kate. 'Isn't it fun?'

"The next house showed light in the front windows and we voted it unsafe. But the next was unexceptionable for our purpose. The front windows were dark, and the gate was quite near the stoop, so that retreat would be easy, while a row of shrubbery along the fence offered still further cover to the fugitive. A new comer, whom we will call Mr. Jones, though that was not his name, lived there. I knew him as a bowing acquaintance, but nothing more; and whether he had a family, or in what it consisted, we had not heard. He was not in our set.

"'Do be careful,' said Kate, just as if she hadn't put me up to it. That little scene with the deacon, though she managed it so cleverly, had left her rather fluttered and nervous, and I believed she would have been willing to have let me off. Pretending to be children was funny enough for a few minutes, but it had already palled on us. Still I thought it would be a pity after so much talk and manoeuvering not to do something, and so, telling Kate to be ready to run, I stepped lightly up by the side of the walk to the door. I felt for the handle of the bell, bound to have it over as soon as possible, and jerked it with that thoroughness one puts into a thing which he does in spite of himself.

"Another moment would have seen me flying up the street dragging Kate by the hand, but, while I was yet in the act of pulling, before I had let go, the door opened, the dark hall, like the mouth of a dragon, gaped upon me, and Mr. Jones sprang out with a vindictive ejaculation. It took only an instant. Instinctively I dodged, just in time to save my collar from his grasp I was in the act of taking to my heels in a panic, when he started back, exclaiming with an appearance of great regret and chagrin

"'I beg pardon, sir, a thousand times I took you for one of those rascally boys who have been tormenting me all the evening. I had been lying in wait, and thought I had caught one for sure, I cannot sufficiently apologize'

"His profuse regrets gave me time to recover a small share of my scattered wits, and I managed to mumble in reply

"'Certainly, sir very excusable, odd mistake, and even forced a very feeble "ha ha"'

"'Come in, sir come in,' said Mr Jones, with effusion anxious to make amends for his rough reception, and evidently ascribing wholly to that my state of confusion

"I had no choice but to follow him in As I did so, I heard something that sounded like an hysterical giggle from behind the shrubbery

"As I stood under the hall lamp I was conscious that Jones was regarding me rather closely As I said before, I barely knew him by sight, and could think of no possible excuse of business or politeness for my presence in his hall. No rule of etiquette made it in the least suitable for me to be making a formal call, besides the facts that it was a full hour too late for that purpose, and my toilet was by no means faultless I came to the desperate resolve that if he had not recognize me, of which I was quite doubtful I would ask for some money and pass myself off as a gentlemanly mendicant But he did.

"'Mr Phelps, I believe,' he said with a slight hesitation, and paused as if to allow me to announce my business

I stood looking like a perfect fool, red in the face, speechless, abject, not daring to meet his eye No chicken-thief, caught with chickens' legs sticking out under his coat, was ever a more complete picture of conscious guilt. That was what I seemed to myself, but to him I suppose I appeared nearly rather embarrassed at being obliged to explain that my call was wholly of a social nature You see he was himself somewhat embarrassed at having received a guest in so singular a manner, and this made him the less attractive to my demeanor He thought he was the one who was in the awkward position So on seeing that my call was not on business, he said, affably

"'I am glad you called Will you walk into the parlor? My daughter and I are quite alone'

'I followed him helplessly, like a sheep led to the slaughter, and was ushered into a cosy room with but a single occupant

The prettiest young lady that I ever saw, with the brownest eyes, the sunniest hair, most tempting hands, daintiest figure and dearest smile that God ever put together, sat demurely reading by the table.

It was your mother"

Judgment of the Public.

During the past five years the public have carefully observed the wonderful cures accomplished from the use of VEGETINE. From its use many an afflicted sufferer has been restored to perfect health, after having expended a small fortune in procuring medical advice and obtaining poisonous mineral medicines

It is now justly remarked by all classes of people that VEGETINE holds a higher position in the estimation of the public than any other medical compound and it has won its great reputation and immense demand from actual merit.

Its medical properties are Alterative, Tonic, Solvent and Diuretic. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic or poisonous compound It is composed exclusively of barks, roots and herbs, it is very pleasant to take every child likes it. It is safe and reliable as the following evidence will show

VALUABLE EVIDENCE.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev O T Walker D D formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston and at present settled in Providence R I, must be deemed as reliable evidence. No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years experience with the use of VEGETINE in the Rev Mr Walker's family who now pronounces it invaluable

PROVIDENCE, R I, 164 Transit Street,

H R. STEVENS Esq

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating renovating tonic

A Walking Miracle.

MR H R STEVENS

Dear Sir—Though a stranger, I want to inform you what VEGETINE has done for me

Last Christmas Scrofula made its appearance in my system—large running ulcers appearing on me as follows; One on each of my arms, one on my thigh, which extended to the seat, one on my head, which eat into the skull bone, one on my left leg, which became so bad that two physicians came to amputate the limb, though upon consultation concluded not to do so, as my whole body was so full of scrofula, they deemed it advisable to cut the sore, which was painful beyond description, and there was a quart of matter run from this one sore

The physicians all gave me up to die, and said they could do no more for me Both of my legs were drawn up to my seat, and it was thought if I did get up again I would be a cripple for life.

When in this condition I saw VEGETINE advertised, and commenced taking it in March, and followed on with it until I had used sixteen bottles, and this morning I am going to plough corn, a well man All my townsmen say it is a miracle to see me round walking and working.

In conclusion I will add, when I was enduring such great suffering, from that dreadful disease, Scrofula, I prayed to the Lord above to take me out of this world, but as VEGETINE has restored to me the blessings of health, I desire more than ever to live, that I may be of some service to my fellow men, and I know of no better way to aid suffering humanity, than to inclose you this statement of my case with an earnest hope that you will publish it, and it will afford me pleasure to reply to any communication which I may receive therefrom.

I am, sir, very respectfully
WILLIAM PAYN.

Reliable Evidence.

MR H. R STEVENS

Dear Sir I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over 30 years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me, and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs and weak sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

THE "LOST ART" RECOVERED.

Galen, the most celebrated physician, flourished in the second century His theory was that roots and herbs, properly compounded, are Nature's remedy His cures were so marvellous that he was accused of magic His mighty skill and success silenced his enemies, and his opinions held sway in the medical world for centuries, until the art of compounding vegetable remedies was gradually lost in the thickening gloom of the middle ages, and poisonous mineral mixtures took its place. But the clouds are breaking in our day, and the almost magical virtues of VEGETINE, joyfully attested by thousands, stamp it as a true Galenical compound, and as a blood-purifier and health restorer probably has had no equal since the days of Galen himself.

SCROFULOUS HUMOR Breaking through the Skin on all parts of the Body.

A Hopeless Sufferer Cured by Vegetine.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.

Dear Sir—Thinking that a statement of my case may meet the eye of some one suffering from Scrofula, I beg you to publish the following, which I cheerfully furnish of my own free will

I have been afflicted with Scrofulous Humor from my birth, and at times very badly. When about six years old the disease made its appearance on my head, and it was deemed advisable to have the hair shaved, but they were obliged to cut it off with embroidery scissors, as my head was so sore I could not have it shaved. After we had succeeded in healing the sores on the outside they broke out on the inside, causing me great pain. There have been times when the surface of my hands was all raw from the effect of this humor, and no pen can describe the great suffering I have endured.

About three years ago small kernels made their appearance on the cords of my neck, several of which grew into quite large tumors, and nothing which we could use would remove them. My whole system was so full of scrofulous humor that it seemed ready to burst through the skin at all parts of my body, and I was in a terrible weak and feeble condition. The tumors on my neck had grown to such a size as to disfigure me badly When in this hopeless condition I was advised by a friend to try the VEGETINE, and I at once commenced taking it, and after I had used it a short time the tumors commenced discharging, and I do not think I overestimate the quantity from each tumor when I say that a good-sized teacupful of corruption ran out, after which they commenced to heal up and disappear, and now my neck is as smooth and free from bunches as any lady's.

I believe the VEGETINE has entirely eliminated every taint of scrofula from my system, and I desire to have this statement published, so that other sufferers may find relief as they surely will do, if they try the VEGETINE.

It will afford me pleasure to give any further information relative to my case to all who will call or address me.

A NEWSPAPER FURNISHED AT LESS THAN COST.

In compliance with requests by many leading Republicans and with a desire to promote the dissemination of Republican principles and to aid in assuring the most emphatic Republican triumph in the approaching Presidential election, the Proprietors have decided to furnish the WEEKLY edition of the WHIG AND COURIER for the three months during the Campaign at a price hardly covering the cost of the white paper. The first number of the Campaign WEEKLY COURIER, which is made up with the latest telegraphic and other news from our Daily, will be issued June 23d immediately after the opening of the Centennial canvass by the National Convention at Cincinnati, June 14, and the Republican State Convention in Bangor, June 22, and the last number will be issued September 15th with a report of our State election

The edition will comprise thirteen weekly numbers of the largest paper published in the State, each number accompanied by a two-page supplement, and will be furnished to new subscribers only, at the following low rates

One Copy, sent Postage paid, 35cts.

EXTRA INDUCEMENTS TO CLUBS.

Three Copies to one address,	$1 00
Ten Copies to one address,	3 [illegible]
Twenty Copies to one address,	6 00
Fifty Copies to one address,	11 00
One Hundred Copies to one address	[illegible] 00

We have determined to offer the Campaign COURIER at this low price solely with the object of bringing to the attention of those who do not now take any Republican paper, the current information upon which a sound political judgment should be based and the merits and claims of the doctrines and principles which we advocate

The coming Campaign will be one of the most important in our National history, and promises to exceed any previous contest in interest and excitement It is already manifest that misrepresentation, calumny and sensational reports will be freely employed to deceive the public and it is essential that reliable and trustworthy information should be most widely circulated to counteract such misleading influence. Every citizen should keep fully posted concerning public affairs during the progress of the Campaign, and the WEEKLY COURIER, with its forty-eight columns principally devoted to current news will prove a most desirable compendium of information to be put in the hands of every voter.

Send in Subscriptions at once.

The Republican Town Committees and all other citizens who are interested in the success of the Republican Cause are invited to render practical and valuable aid by taking prompt measures for placing the Campaign edition of the WHIG AND COURIER in the hands of every voter who is not now a subscriber. The price is merely nominal and the efforts of two or three earnest Republicans in each town can readily ensure a general circulation of the paper among the voting population
